Camp letter 4

On March 11-12, the planning groups met at Ljungnäs to continue working on the summer camp.

There we had a very rewarding weekend including a tour of the camp premises and collaborations between the planning groups.

Registration

On Monday, March 6th, the Head of Information and the Head of Facilities acquired another meadow so we can have even more scouts at this summer's camp.

With an additional meadow, there have been some changes in the registration. The participation limit has been raised to 3200 scouts.

Because of this, the priority for the organizing districts has been removed. Registration is thus now open to everyone.

In addition to this, we have also decided to extend the registration period to April 20th.

The registration in Scoutnet is open to all scout corps and it is possible to register participants continuously.

Leader staff

To fill up with enough staff members, we will use leader staff. This means that leaders from the villages will help with the different functions at the camp. The staff shifts will be distributed by village, and the amount of shifts is based on the number of leaders in the village.

Which leader goes where is decided by the corps themselves in each individual village.

Before the camp, each village will receive a list of the days, times and functions for which leader staff are needed, and the list of which leaders go on each shift is given to us at check-in.
